In many parts of the world and on the Internet, the English language has become a common standard for international communication. Of course it also has its fair share of quirks and eccentricities. English Language Program at IMPIANA is designed to meet the requirements where English is the language of instruction and well known by nationwide. It means that students are supposed to acquire professional academic terminology as well as to master their study skills under the four elements; reading, writing, speaking and listening. Through the business settings, language is more focused towards speaking and responding academic written communication in working life. Students will be able to learn the skills of summary writing, argumentation and writing for particular purposes.

“Every English poet should master the rules of grammar before he attempts to bend or break them.”

- Robert Graves

Come and let us introduce you the beauty of the language of “English” and take you through the understanding of the principal English language and its pronunciation. We at Impiana assist our students in their reading, writing and spelling during their beginner level and as they progress into the advance level, they will be exposed to higher level of English. While English is not an official in most countries, it is currently the language most often taught as a second language around the world.

“Others may use the ocean as their road; only the English make it their abode.”

- Edmund Waller

Business English

Business English is especially related to international trade. Many non-native English speakers study the subject with the goal of doing business with English speaking homeland, but which nonetheless use English as a shared language. Much of the English communication takes place within business circle or over the world occurs between non-native speakers. The objective of this exercise is efficient and effective communication followed by strict rules of grammar. It is sometimes neglected, such as stressed negotiators only goal is to reach an agreement as quickly as possible. Business English means different things to different people and to some it focuses on vocabulary topics used in the world of business, trade, finance and international relations. For others, it refers to communication skills needed for typical business communication such as presentations, negotiation, meeting, small talk and socializing, correspondence, report writing and so on. It can also be a form of International English.

“Business, more than any other occupation, is a continual dealing with the future.”
